1st CIRCLE U. PhD Workshop in Public Governance

Call for papers

EXTENDED DEADLINE: 6 September 2023

We're pleased to announce that the Circle U. Open School of Public Governance is organising its first PhD workshop in Public Governance.

The workshop will take place on 11 and 12 October 2023 at the Department of Political Economy, King's College London (UK). It will gather PhD students and Postdocs from the 9 partner universities (Aarhus, Belgrade, Humboldt, Louvain, King's, Oslo, Paris, Pisa, Vienna) who study public governance (comprising all aspects of public policy, public administration, public management, and governance) using either qualitative or quantitative methods, or formal modelling.

There will be a maximum of 18 presentations, lasting about 30 minutes each (including Q&A). Participants will be asked to send a paper (work in progress) in advance of the workshop. Each paper will have a discussant from the faculty and a peer-discussant from the participants.

Participation is free of charge. All meals will be covered by Circle U. at King's College London. Participants should contact their home university international mobility offices for more information about Circle U. funding to cover for their travel and accommodation.

To apply to the workshop: Send your abstract (max 400 words) to circle-u@kcl.ac.uk by September 6th, 2023 at 5 pm UK time, writing "Circle U. Open School PhD workshop" in the email title.

Circle U. PhD students: we look forward to receiving your applications!

NB: supervisors/faculty from the partner universities are welcome too! Just let circle-u@kcl.ac.uk know you will attend for catering/planning purposes.
